

Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 08 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:

Snow showers. Feeling very cold with strong winds.

Today:

A frosty start, icy for some, with snow in places. Patchy cloud will bring further snow showers to much of the region. More snow in eastern areas, drier in the west. Strong winds throughout and feeling bitterly cold. Maximum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Tonight:

This evening and tonight, snow showers will continue, especially further east. Continued dry spells throughout the night, remaining windy. Feeling very cold, with ice and frost developing. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Tuesday:

Patchy cloud, with snow showers continuing throughout tomorrow, with intermittent dry spells. Heavier snow likely in easternmost areas. Strong winds, especially along coasts. Feeling very cold. Maximum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:

Continued mixture of sunny spells and snow showers on Wednesday. Showers ease on Thursday, remaining very cold with brisk winds. Slightly milder Friday, with rain, hill snow and dry spells.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.